Headline:
Sunny spells and a few showers. Cold overnight.

Today:
After a chilly start for many it will be a bright day with sunny spells. Isolated showers are likely from late morning onwards, but not everyone will see them with some places remaining dry. Feeling chilly in the breeze. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Any showers will die away this evening to leave a dry night with often clear skies. Turning cold by morning with a touch of frost for many sheltered spots inland. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:
After a cold and crisp start it will be a fine, dry autumn day with plenty of sunshine. Feeling rather cold in the brisk wind. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Dry for most on Friday with bright spells. Cloudy and windy on Saturday, with patchy rain and turning milder. Rain on Saturday night clears to fine, dry conditions on Sunday.
